THEATRICALS WILL BE AT THE ST. DENIS

Theatre Night Promises to be Great Success

MARCH 28 & 29

Performances Will be Entirely Different From Previous Years

Before the meeting which took place in the Union last evening, some doubts had been entertained regarding the probable success of the McGill Theatre Night, but the enthusiasm which was displayed dispelled all apprehensions. Representatives from nearly all faculties were present, as well as from the Royal Victoria College and The School of Physical Education.

S. D. Pierce gave a general outline of the plans for the year, which showed that the performance will be substantially different from that of 1923, although the place of appearance will be the same. In all probability the show will be put on on two successive nights, in order that both McGill students and outsiders may have an opportunity of viewing it. Such an idea met with the approval of most of those present, although there is no doubt that more extensive preparations will be required to cope with the new conditions.

The St. Denis Theatre was unanimously chosen as the logical place to put on the performance, especially as it would be very difficult to secure any other hall in which there would be anything approaching adequate accommodation. The dates set were the 28th and 29th of March, which fall this year on Friday and Saturday. It is intended that the show on Friday night shall be principally for the benefit of those directly connected with the University, while that of the following will be patronised largely by the general public. There is little reason to suppose that Montrealeers will fail to appreciate the unusual opportunity of seeing a performance put on entirely by college students; last year many people attempted to secure tickets for the Theatre Night, and those who were fortunate enough to do so expressed their appreciation in no uncertain terms.

A. J. Skelley, the producer for this year's show, was present at the meeting yesterday, as was J. S. L. Browne, the property man. Another meeting was announced to take place in two weeks time, and by then it is hoped that most of the companies will have been organised, and will have chosen their acts.

SCIENCE MEN WILL DEBATE AGAINST ARTS

"Arts Course is Better Training" the Issue

INTERCOLLEGIATE

McGill May Meet Bates, Cornell and Dalhousie

At eight-fifteen to-night in the hall-room of the Union the Arts debating representatives will meet those from the faculty of Science. The subject is "Resolved that an Arts Course is better training for citizenship than a Science course" and the Arts team composed of Shephard James, and Cohen, will take the affirmative on this subject against the Science men, Ross, Miles, and Boyd. Of the three judges one will be from the Faculty of Arts, one from Science, and the third from another source. Col. Bovey will be the third while Mr. T. MacDermot has been asked to be the judge from the Faculty of Arts. After the debate Mr. MacDermot, who is the critic for the Literary and Debating Society, will give a short talk, pointing out the faults shown by the different speakers.

The winners of to-night's controversy will earn the right to debate against the Theologians in the final, which takes place on the eighteenth of this month.

The debate being held this evening and the one on the eighteenth offer opportunities for making the inter-collegiate team two of whose members will exchange reports with Varsity's hopes in Toronto on Feb. 28, while two others engage the Queen's men here on the same night.

Debating contests against noted American and Canadian teams, promise to make this season one of the best. (Continued on page 3)

COSMOPOLITANS TO MEET NEXT THURSDAY

The Cosmopolitan Club of McGill will hold a meeting on Thursday evening at 8 p.m. at the Strathcona Hall when a debate will take place on the relative merits of western and eastern civilization.

At the present moment, a great many students are interested in the trend of our western civilization, and are looking with mixed feelings, some with despair and many with hope, on the struggle that is passing through and the disruptive forces that are at work undermining its very foundations.

To add to the interest four members, each of different nationality will take part in the debate and the point of view of each will be brought out.

All interested are invited to attend and join what will undoubtedly prove to be an interesting discussion.

NO FAIR!

Polly—Did that famous author you wrote to send you his autograph?

Dolly—No, but he kept mine, the mean thing!

MEDICAL DINNER

The Committee in charge of the Medical Banquet have not received any authenticated report that their guest of honour, Dr. Geo. E. Vincent will be unable to attend the dinner.

On the contrary they have received very reliable information from the Rockefeller Foundation that Dr. Vincent will be here. Please watch these columns for further announcement.

ST. GABRIEL LOST GAME TO JUNIORS

Good Brand of Hockey Displayed

SCORE 5-1

Bright Prospects for Junior Championship

The McGill juniors won their seventh straight game in the junior hockey league at the Loyola College rink last night by defeating the St. Gabriel team to the tune of five to one. The game was fast and clean throughout, the McGill men having the advantage of play almost the whole game.

For some minutes after the game started both teams seemed quite evenly matched but the McGill men began to show their superiority after getting warmed up. The first goal was put in by Eveleigh three minutes after the face off. This was followed up a minute later by another tally, this time by Jack Mickles, who carried the puck right down the ice from the McGill end. Mickles again scored three minutes later. The St. Gabriels now began to warm up and succeeded in bringing the puck up to McGill's end several times but could not get past Boos and Roncarelli the stellar McGill defense. Two more goals were scored for McGill during this period, one by McGerrigle who slipped the black pill in on a neat side shot and the last by Eveleigh. The end of the period stood five to nil in McGill's favour. The play in the second period was much more even than in the first. The St. Gabriel team were more successful in their combinations and put up such a good defense that they prevented McGill from any further scoring.

The St. Gabriel's only goal was put in about half way through the period by Helly, their star forward. More shots peppered the Red and White goal but all were stopped by the goalie, Johnson. The game finished with a five to one score in McGill's favour.

There are only three more games for McGill to play before the end of the series and her chances for the junior championship are very bright. The Red and White supporters are generally conspicuous by their absence, and the opposing teams are as a rule well supplied with noise makers. A little rooting would encourage the team considerably. Following is the line-up:

ALUMNI DINED AT HAMILTON LAST NIGHT

Dr. Leacock Was One of the Speakers at McGill Graduates' Banquet

500 PRESENT

Enthusiastic Gathering Heard Mr. Embree of Rockefeller Foundation

Hamilton Ont., Special to the McGill Daily:—"We are a free university," so Dr. Leacock described McGill last night to five hundred enthusiastic residents of the Niagara Peninsula gathered in the crowded ballroom of the Royal Connaught Hotel, at the second annual dinner of the Southern Ontario McGill Alumni Association. The entire evening was wonderfully successful, and Mr. Embree of the Rockefeller Foundation and Dr. Leacock of McGill kept their audience entranced with their splendid addresses.

Dr. Leacock was in perfect form carrying a message which brought conviction illuminated as it was by rare humour. "May Sir Arthur Currie be long spared to head our Alma Mater" was the keynote of a sincere tribute to the sterling qualities of McGill's Principal. Followed by a touching reference to the loss the university has suffered lately in the passing of Lord Shaughnessy, Dean Harkness, Dr. Stirling and Garrow, and Professors Paul Laflour, then Dr. Leacock stressed the freedom of speech and life to be found at McGill, the danger to complete organization has in the pursuit of learning the partial satisfaction and direction of which is the chief function of a college.

Dr. Roberts, Hamilton, Medical Health Officer, introduced Mr. Embree. (Continued on page 4)

MONTREAL, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1924.

EVENTUALLY, SO WHY NOT NOW?

Most of us realize that we come to college for the purpose of getting and education, or at least to acquire a sufficiency of knowledge that will fit us for some more or less definite positions when we have graduated. To be an Arts student argues a certain love of letters, a faith in the value of culture and learning. Men in the Faculties of Medicine, Science, Law and Theology are preparing themselves to take their places in the ranks of highly trained and specialized professions. And in every case, whether knowledge is being pursued for its own sake or as a preparation, its attainment cannot be effected without hard study and serious application. Now we all know this fact. There is not one undergraduate in this university who has not heard this and similar truisms repeated time after time; and, what is more, there is not one who does not know that they are true.

However much the actions of a great many students may seem to indicate that they are students in name only, it cannot be doubted that they are as fully aware of the need of hard study and is the most diligent reader of weighty tomes. They are always going to begin to do some serious work—next week, or after this or that activity has been brought to a completion. They tell you what a lot of studying they will have to do when they can find time to get down to it. But most of them never can find the time until the black shadow of examinations hangs imminent. Then to see them cramming away will show you that they realize the full value of serious study. But sometimes it is too late, and whether or not they are able to pull through, they certainly have to work much harder than would have been necessary if they had devoted a little time to systematic study throughout the year. Two or three nights a week—and this should not, and need not, interfere with athletic and social activities—spent in going over your lecture notes, comparing them with the text book, classifying and arranging them in a systematic manner will be found the best and easiest way of assuring yourself of a good past. Of course it is possible to get up a whole year's work by a month of heart-breaking cramming. We ourselves know from bitter experience. But it is a risky thing to attempt, and it certainly means more trouble, more hard work, and a far greater physical and mental strain than is necessary or desirable.

In short: you've got to study eventually, and if eventually, why not now? It is easier, and what is vastly more important still, it has a much greater permanent value. Hasty cramming means quick forgetting, but regular study brings understanding.

WOODROW WILSON FOOTBALL COACH

Another Phase in the Life of the Late Ex-president

Another phase in the life of the late Woodrow Wilson has been brought to light. It is not generally known that he combined athletic with scholastic ability. However he served as football coach and was very successful in that capacity. While he was a professor of history and political economy at Wesleyan University, he served as football captain and in the years from 1883 to 1890, turned out two of the most successful teams the college has ever had.

He invented a new system of offensive plays which revolutionized coaching methods of the time and which was subsequently adopted by every team in the country. This fact is significant in view of the later achievements of the man.

Among the accomplishments of the Wesleyan football team under the regime of the young professor are decisive victories over great rivals like Pennsylvania and Williams.

One of the most interesting stories told of Wilson was the one about his saving his team from defeat by a high kick in 1890. The Wesleyan defense was being battered to pieces; disasterous defeat was threatened. Suddenly Wilson appeared in the grandstand and exhorted the despondent rooters to give a real, brassy cheer, a cheer rung out across the field, and the team responded. It tied the score just as the last whistle blew.

"My boy's letters from college always send me to the dictionary."
"You're lucky. My boy's always send me to the bank."—Awgawn.

CAVALRY RETURN FROM ST. JOHNS

Will Take Exams for Certificate in Near Future

The finishing touches were put on the candidates for the C. O. T. C. "A" certificate in the cavalry last Saturday and Sunday at the Royal School of Cavalry, St. Johns Que. Troop drill, both mounted and dismounted, sword drill, stables, and two lectures were crowded into a busy week-end. The mounted work went on quietly, there being nothing in the nature of a stampede among the horses. On Saturday night the men enjoyed a concert, in which certain members of the Royal Canadian Dragoons were the performers.

The sword work was done on Saturday, and the first lecture was delivered later on the same afternoon. At Sunday morning stables, the men were instructed in the parts of saddle and other equipment and also in the saddling of horse.

An hour and a half of equitation kept the men busy till dinner time. Some of the more elementary moves of troop drill were gone into after the men had warmed up, with a brisk trot around the school. The cadets were also practiced in riding without aid of stirrups.

Dismounted troop drill and another lecture kept the men occupied Sunday afternoon.

The party returned to Montreal on Sunday night, Captain D. D. McGoun was in command.

THE IMPERIAL

This week's bill at the Imperial is good in some spots but could be bolstered up in others. Owen Wister's well known "The Virginian" followed the theme of the novel fairly well. It was taken amid beautiful mountain scenery. There was a well balanced cast, but as in most other "movies" the hero although a man of iron most of the time appears almost womanish at others. The "school farm" is very charming at all stages.

The first act of the vaudeville part of the programme was by Pielert and Scotland. These two put on a rather interesting and novel display of juggling combined with "patter" under high pressure. Rose and Ruth Brill tried to sing for a while. Later they put on some snappy but somewhat risqué repartee which brought appreciation chuckles from the members of the audience. Reynolds, Donagan and Company put on a most attractive display of fancy roller-skating. There were three ladies and one man in the company all of whom were exceptionally good. This act was very well received and was one of the best on the bill. Carlyle and Lamal put on some clean vaudeville. A young fellow trying to play a saxophone greeted one when the curtain rose. A woman came out and wanted him to give her an interview and here followed much good repartee. The "Law Breakers" were shown in the setting of a fanciful country goal. Most of the prisoners had been arrested for speeding but being unable to pay their fines they adopted many means to try to be set at liberty. The most successful seemed to be by getting the sympathy of the lieutenant in charge whose heart was not as adamant to the ladies as would appear at first glance. There was a chorus of good dancers with this company. Willie Solar was the star of the evening. Before he said a word he had the audience laughing. He had a

ARTS VS. DENTS IN BASKETBALL

Score of 18 to 16 in Fast Game

Arts II clashed with Dentistry I in basketball last night at 7:30 in Molson Hall. The game was very keenly contested, and at full time the score was 18 all. An overtime period of five minutes was allowed, and at one minute before the timekeeper's whistle sounded, the Arts men scored two points more. The game ended with the score 18 to 16 in favor of Arts. Both sides played a fast snappy game with few fouls. There was comparatively a small amount of shooting on either side. In the first two minutes of the game, it looked as though the Arts team were going to have a "walkover" as two goals were scored in this period, but the opposing team rallied and kept the score nearly even until the end. The defense play on both sides was excellent. The two big scorers were Rosenbergs of Dentistry and Becker of Arts. Starr, Captain of the Dents, played a very good game.

Arts II will play against Science I on Wednesday night at 7:15 for the Freshman-Sophomore Championship. The line ups in last night's game were as follows:

Arts II	Dentistry I
Becker	Keck
Held	Pinkstein
Kursner	Goodnoh
Breitman	Goldberg
Abramovitch	Starr
Subs
Adam	Rosenberg
Brown	Watson
Mosely	Scheffer

MCGILL GRADS MEET AGAIN

To Lunch at Union Next Thursday

The University Graduates' Society will hold a lunch on Thursday the fourteenth, in the Union Grill Room. The occasion is to be entirely informal, and graduates or undergraduates of all faculties will be very welcome. No set program has been arranged, but a very interesting program may be expected. It begins at one-fifteen.

This society was formed last year at the suggestion of Sir Arthur Curran, who thought that better connections should be kept up between the men who have graduated and those who are still in the college. An organization of the kind is imperative if tradition and "college spirit" are to be maintained, and it offers a valuable means of relaxation to the overworked graduate. The meetings are held on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month, in the Union. At the last one over 125 graduates and undergraduates attended, besides several members of the faculties, and the Principal. It was highly successful, and many graduates commented favorably upon it. Attempts are being made to have a still more successful lunch on Thursday. J. M. Packman has tickets for the banquet.

MACCABAEAN CIRCLE MEETS NEXT SUNDAY

At the next meeting of the Maccabaeon Circle, on Sunday afternoon, February 17th, Otto Klineberg, M.A., will speak on "Problems in Jewish Psychology". Mr. Klineberg needs no introduction to the members of the Circle as he has been associated with it for several years and is, in addition an ex-president. He has made psychology his specialty, winning the Prince of Wales gold medal in Philosophy and Psychology when he graduated in Arts. He received his M.A. at Harvard and is at present studying medicine at McGill. The characteristics of the Jews, regarded from a psychological viewpoint, have evoked a great deal of controversy and conflicting opinions, and a discussion on this topic should be both interesting and instructive.

J. L. O'BRIEN SENDS NEWS FROM FRANCE

Lack of College Activities in French Universities

MCGILL GRADUATE

Striking Similarity Between Courses—Students Fewer and Older

The following is an extract from a letter to Judge Surveyor of the Faculty of Law, from J. S. O'Brien, which will be of interest to his many friends and McGill students generally. "Jack" O'Brien, it will be remembered, was for many years closely connected with the "Daily". During his career through Arts '20 and Law '23 he held many positions. Finally on graduating in Law he was awarded the Macdonald Scholarship and is now furthering his study of Law at the University of Dijon, in France.

"As far as the Law course at the University of Dijon is concerned, it appears to me to be similar to our course at McGill in its general outline with the addition of a few subjects, such as Political Economy, that are commonly found in the Arts courses in Canadian universities. The system of instruction is very much similar also, excepting that there is seldom a reference to leading cases in order to illustrate difficult points; on the other hand, reference to the authors is perhaps more frequent here than in the McGill law school. The courses given for the licentiate appear to be given in more detail by the professors here; the necessity for research work is not so great but the amount of material to be absorbed from the lectures is much greater.

The number of students attending the law school is very small as is also the number of professors on the staff; the results of the war are shown here as in everything else with which I have come in contact in France. The lectures which I have been following are almost all in the course for the third year and it is seldom that the attendance exceeds ten students. They are older on the average than the third year class at McGill, all having spent some years either at war or in performing the obligatory military service.

The students life is different from that which I have been accustomed to. When the lectures are completed for the day there is not the opportunity for the students to remain together in the vicinity of the university. There is a Students' Association, it is true, but the quarters provided are small, not very attractive, and some distance from the university, and are not patronized very much. The average undergraduate may devote more time to his studies here—I really think he does—but in his spare time spent with fellow students he is generally forced to have resort to one of the numerous "cafes". There are no games provided for the students, no exercise, in fact none of the university literary or athletic activities to which I have been long accustomed and which mark the greatest difference for me in my change from one university to the other.

The student is naturally different from the Canadian student. To me he seems to be more gay and yet more serious than the undergraduate at home, and I would include the French-Canadian student with the others in Canada when I say that the student here is more serious. Inasmuch as the French-Canadian and the purely French student both have the Latin temperament they both seem to me to have the common attribute of gayness of spirit. The student in France has a more mature outlook on life than either his French or English brothers in Canada, however. The seriousness of the position in which his country is placed at the present time appears to present a problem that is personal to every undergraduate. Whereas the student in Canada discusses national politics as a more or less interesting pastime, the French student deals with the national problems as with affairs that are of vital import to himself, or, at least, that is the impression that I receive. Of course, the delicate financial position of France has been felt more by the individuals than any similar problem that has ever been faced by the Canadian Government. There is also the intense national feeling here that has not been fully developed in Canada."

The Literary and Debating Society has ever had, are being arranged. One of these will be with Cornell, one with Bates and one with Dalhousie. At this point one recalls the high traditions of Bates University in rhetorical disputes and the fact that it was against Bates that the talented Oxford speakers who recently toured this continent, met defeat. The heads of the "A" feel proud that McGill is enjoying her privilege as a first class university to give and accept challenges from societies whose past and present performances entitle them to be ranked among the leading debating organizations of the field as the Mt. Royal Arena on tonight.

Thomas Lightley
The death occurred on Sunday, January 10th, of Thomas Lightley at the Royal Victoria Hospital. Lightley was a student at the Montreal Diocesan Theological College for the past year. On Wednesday of last week he was removed to the Royal Victoria Hospital having contracted a severe case of pneumonia. The news of his death on the following Sunday comes as a severe shock to his college fellows and large circle of friends in the city.

The deceased was a native of Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, and left that country to come to Canada to take Holy Orders in the Anglican Church. During the Great War he was connected with the Red Cross and saw several years' service in Gallipoli. Later he returned to England and spent some time in the hospitals there engaged in medical work. After the war he came to Canada and took up his residence in the Montreal Diocesan Theological College. While there he was actively engaged in church work. His zeal and devoutness and boundless energy made him friends where ever he went. His work Terentiaville is especially deserving of praise for here, within the short span of three months he completely organized and set upon a firm foundation, the Sunday School. His great love for children, his kindness and gentleness towards them greatly aided him in this work.

His pleasing personality, his religious enthusiasm, his general good-heartedness and generosity around the college made him the friend of every student. Beyond the college, he was an interested member of the Royal Arch Masons to which order he has belonged for several years.

The body will be brought to the College Chapel at 12 o'clock noon to-day and there will lie in state until 3 p.m. at which time the funeral will take place. The service in the chapel will be conducted by the Right Rev. J. C. Farthing M.A. D.D. D.C.L., L.L.D., Lord Bishop of Montreal, assisted by the Rev. Canon G. Abbott-Smith M.A., D.D., D.C.L., E. I. Rexford. Interment will take place at Mount Royal Cemetery.

TEXT BOOKS IN EXAMS

An experiment which would no doubt prove very acceptable to students everywhere has been tried at Harvard University. As this extract from the "Crimson" shows:

"An experiment in education will be tried this afternoon in the New Lecture Hall at the Mid-year Examination in English 72, Professor Lowes' course on the "Romantic Poetry of the Nineteenth Century." As many books as the student can carry may be brought into the examination hall and used freely throughout the examination.

The experiment is entirely new at Harvard. The end in view is not to make the examination a test of the 24-hour memory, but to give the members of the course a chance to show that they have critical ability and that they know where to look for information and how to apply it.

RIFLE COMPETITION WON SATURDAY BY M.I.T.

The 22 rifle competition held on Saturday between McGill and Massachusetts Institute of Technology was won by M. I. T. with a score of 98.7 per cent against McGill's score of 95.6 per cent. Individual scores of the McGill team were:

Delocellier, 98; Nadler, 98; Williams, Pimmors, and Moore, 96; Hunter, Matheson, and Shotwell, 95; Reid, Wilson,

COMMERCE WINS FROM MacDONALD

Interfaculty Baseball Game at Ste. Annes Ended 13-10

Commerce won the first start in the interfaculty baseball league when they journeyed to Macdonald last night, and defeated the Argies by a score of 13 to 10. Previous to the game an early supper was served to the contestants. The game commenced at six o'clock and proved to be an excellent contest, both teams putting up a sterling exhibition of baseball.

For more than half the game a deadlock existed, the score at the end of the sixth standing being five to four. Commerce rallied in the seventh, sending across four runs. Macdonald, not to be outdone, tied the score in their half of the inning. Commerce scored one in the eighth, and two in the ninth while Milne, ably supported by his team-mates held the Argies scoreless in the last two frames.

The game proved exciting from start to finish, and the interest shown by the gallery of spectators was well merited. The Macdonald battery was in good form, and received great support. Milne in the box for Commerce was well supported by Kenrick, his backstop, and an airtight infield. The outfield had comparatively little to do but handled all that came their way.

Chamberlain had the misfortune to turn an ankle in the eighth which put him out of the game, Hart substituting.

Skinner of Macdonald umpired to the complete satisfaction of all. The line-up for Commerce:

Kenrick, catcher; Milne, pitcher; Punde, 1st; Gaucher, 2nd; Chamberlain, 3rd; Murphy, s.s.; Davis, 1. field; Kearns, c. field; Morrice, r. field; Hart, substitute.

MCGILL GRADUATE WINS HIGH AWARD

Dr. E. H. Boomer Given Canadian Fellowship of Chemical Science

News has just been received that Edward H. Boomer, Ph.D., of Vancouver, B.C., has been awarded the Canadian Fellowship of Chemical Science. After receiving his B. Sc. degree from the University of British Columbia, Dr. Boomer came to McGill in 1920 to further his studies in Physical Chemistry. In 1921 he received his M.Sc. degree. For the year 1921-2 he was awarded a Dominion Government Scholarship and also a similar one for the session 1922-23. In 1923 he graduated with the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, and was awarded the Ramsay Memorial Scholarship, under the terms of which he has been working under the guidance of Sir Wm. Rutherford at Cambridge University. Due to his distinguished work, he has now been awarded the Canadian Fellowship of Chemical Science (600 pounds sterling) and it to continue his next year of research in London, England.

While at McGill, in 1922, Dr. Boomer, who is now only 24 years of age, was elected a member of the Sigma Xi Honorary Scientific Society.

A Very Closely Contested Game is Expected

The Freshman-Sophomore Interclass Series has completed its thirty-sixth game. The Science Fresh have won their part of the league with a record of no losses and six wins while the Arts Sophomores are at the head of their division with one loss and five wins. Both teams have some very good material on them. The Arts II team now at the head of their league, lost strangely enough to Science II, at the bottom of the league. Science I and Arts II deserve great credit for the hard work which has brought them to the play off to take place next Wednesday for the Freshman-Sophomore Championship.

Three Juniors and two Intermediates have won their places on the university teams through work done in the interclass series. The following is the present standing of the various teams.

MUSIC CLUB TO MEET IN UNION THURSDAY

On Thursday evening at 8.15 o'clock, the Music Club will hold a meeting in the Music Room of the Union. In addition to an address by Dr. Perrin, a short musical programme has been arranged.

The club is very fortunate in securing Dr. Perrin for this meeting. He is deeply interested in this new club and it is understood will speak regarding the place such an institution should hold in the university.

Regarding the musical part of the programme, "Bill" Shepherd will play two piano solos:—"Irish Tune" from County Kerry by Percy Grainger and the "Hungarian Etude" by MacDowell. A quartette composed of E. A. Sheppard and L. V. Hovey violinists, H. Elliott, cellist and R. Bryson, pianist will also render selections. The names of the pieces they will play are not available at this writing, but will be announced later.

It has been decided to make this an open meeting and all those interested are cordially invited to attend.

"He (poetic)—Darling! we have lost everything save honour."

She (practical)—And that's just the thing we don't need if we're to live by our wits.
